French Hostility

The community's compromise decision, which represented something of a victory for West Germany in the face of French hostility to a float, is likely to set back the community's moves toward an economic and monetary

This scheme, agreed by Six earlier this year after Franco-German differences were patched up at a summit meeting between the two countries in Paris has been hailed as the most significant advance in the field of European integration since the Treaty of Rome itself.

The Six were due to embark on a first substantive step on June 15 by reducing the margins of their currencies' fluctuations against each other from the present 1.5 percent on either side of parity to 1.2 percent. The process was intended to lead to permanently fixed parities within ten years and possibly to a single KEC currency.

Any significant floating by West Germany would make narrower margins within the EEC impossible and it seems clear that the June 15 date will have to be abandoned. This will represent a severe blow to the credibility of the Six's move toward monetary integration.

French Finance Minister Valery. Giscard d'Estaing told a press conference after the meeting that the "parenthesis" of floating would have to be closed before the progression to economic and monetary union could be resumed.

Reason for Reluctance This was the reason why

France had been "very reluctant" about floating. Mr. Giscard d'Estaing said: A concerted float by all FEC currencies—the solution to the currency crists first advanced by West Germany-would have preserved the narrower bands scheme. So would a limited independent float by the Germans with lesser ones by their partners, as was under consideration by EEC experts at one stage last night.

But all these proposals collapsed in the face of French opposition to any widening of the French franc's margins. France's view, diametrically opposed to that of the Germans, was that the solution to the currency crisis lay in defensive measures such as exchange controls and other technical brakes on speculation.

- Agricultural Policy The other likely casualty of the Six's compromise is the EEC's common agricultural policyironically the one truly integrated sector in the community. Again, small fluctuations upward or downward by the mark have worked out." or the guilder would not make Why, then, the anxiety of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Germans Adopt 5 Nations' Moves Money Controls

By Lawrence Fellows BONN, May 9 (NYT).-The West German government loosened the reins on the deutsche mark today but introduced a series of tough new monetary controls some of them secret, to stop the inflationary flow of speculators' dollars into the country. "We know that the Federal Republic cannot be a lone island of stability." Chancellor Willy Brandt said this evening when he emerged from the cabinet meeting at which a whole panoply of reforms and monetary controls was formally approved.

He spoke of a "European solution," as did other ministers after the meeting, suggesting that the Germans had gone as far as they could toward accommodating the wishes of other member countries in the Common Market, expressed at an emergency meeting of ministers in Brussels that lasted through the night and ended early today. A settled and smooth-functioning. European policy is of great consequence to West Germany. Of more immediate consequence to a West German politician is anything that smacks of inflation. After two devastating ones in the memory of many Germans, the voters are wary of the slightest menacing sign.

"Let there be no doubt about it." Mr. Brandt said. "Within the possibilities open to us, we will do everything to achieve more stability."

The cost of living has risen by more than 5 percent in West Germany in the past year. The figure might not seem excessive in some countries with expanding economies, but to Germans it seems excessive. The government had promised to keep the figure under 3 percent. For rents and some other things the ordinary person feels very quickly, the rise has been much steeper. The immediate outlook last week was much worse. Loose political talk about putting a higher trading value on the buoyant

Devalue Dollar

By Clyde H. Farnsworth

BONN, May 9 (NYT).—The West German government decided today to float the mark in an emergency action that led to currency decisions in four other countries—Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Austria.

The Swiss franc and the Austrian schilling were revalued upward. The Netherlands followed Germany in detaching the guilder from its internationally agreed fixed bands of > fluctuation against the dollar. Belgium, a Benelux partner of the Netherlands and a Common Market partner of both Germany and the Netherlands, acted through technical means that were somewhat different. the Brussels authorities' objective was the same.

> [The Associated Press reported from Brussels tonight that Belgium might decide to float the Belgian franc after all, following West Germany and Holland, according to banking sources there. (The Belgian government announced this morning that it would not float the official foreign exchange market but would switch all capital inflows to the free exchange market.

> IBut it omitted to say that the floor for dollar support on the free market was abolished. All that official sources added was that another special cabinet meeting would be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow. The exchange market will not reopen before Tuesday The Belgians may change their minds following reported protests from the Netherlands, which floated the guilder today.] In all five countries the aim was to use upward currency movements to shovel out excess dollars that were aggravating the problems of fighting inflation. The commercial banks in the five countries turned the dollars over to their central banks for local currency. This had the effect of increasing the money

Affected by Trade

The four smaller countries were influenced by the Bonn decision because of close trading ties. The dollar influx had built up to such proportions that last Wednesday the five stopped buying dollars in the exchange markets. This left the currencles to find a higher natural level as the result of market forces.

West Germany alone took in more than $2 billion on Monday and Tuesday and the first hour of exchange-market trading Wednesday when the central bank finally suspended dollar deal-

The suspension precipitated the most severe monetary crisis since World War II. The excess of dollars in the world had called into question the dollar's value. The revaluations upward by Switzerland-7 percent-and Austria-5.05 percent-amount to a devaluation of the dollar against those currencies. The immediate effect of floating by Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium is also to devalue the dollar. The amount will depend on what happens in the exchange markets. In effect, the currencies have been floating since last Wednesday. They were trading up to 3 (Continued on Page 11, Col. 3)

affected may be U.S. soldiers on duty in Germany, who will find that their pay in dollars will have shrunk by the same amount that the mark eventually increases in

Overall the American competitive position in world trade will be improved; for example, unless Volkswagen cuts the actual selling price of its cars, a VW delivered here will cost more. That would give a new edge to Detroit's small cars, as well as to Japanese Toyotas and Dat-

If the mark should eventually settle at a level 5 percent higher than the old fixed rate, then $2,310 would be needed to buy German products which formerly sold at $2,300. Conceivably, the VW company might think a $110 boost would cut too heavily into sales, and would try therefore to absorb some of the higher price.

Little Official Reaction Official reaction was slow in coming. The executive directors of the International Monetary Fund scheduled a meeting for tonight, presumably to ratify, as an exception to its rules, the temporary German float. It need not deal with the 7 percent Swiss revaluation, because Switzerland is not a member of the IMP.

Russian Trials of Jews May Be Resuming Soon

MOSCOW, May 9 (UPD.—A series of at least three trials in three cities of Jews accused of waging Zionist and anti-Soviet propaganda will be held beginning this week, Jewish sources said today.

Neither the dates nor the names of defendants and circumstances of the arrests and trials could be officially ascertained since the Soviet authorities are pursuing a policy of minimum publicity for such cases.

According to Jewish sources, the first trial will be held in Leningrad Tuesday or Wednesday, the second in Kishmey, the

Russia Finds New 'Defects' In Concorde

MOSCOW. May 9 (AP).—Tass criticized the Anglo-French supersonic Concorde yesterday as a trouble-plagued aircraft that has been found to have a series of "defects."

The sharply worded Tass report from London brought out into the open for the first time a Russian effort to damage the Concorde's reputation while promoting the Soviet SST, the Tu-144.

The two planes already are in stiff competition for orders from Western airlines. The Soviet version is expected to be ready for export before the Concorde.

002 Turned Back

Tass seized on the British pilot's decision to turn back to Toulouse Friday night with the Concorde 003 as proof that a new "defect" was discovered in the British plane. The British said test pilot Brian Trubshaw decided to "play safe" and turn back after takeoff because a warning light indicated a malfunction in the undercarriage main door.

"This is not the first time defects have been discovered in the Concorde." Tass said. "In Britain there is growing anxiety for the future of the aircraft due to the steep increase in the cost of its development and the uncertain prospects about finding a market for it."

The Soviet Tu-144 also apparently has had its troubles but the Soviet news media have reported only the good side of its test program.

The Tass item cited reports in the British press as saying all the "publicity hullabaloo around the Anglo-French aircraft" will be "nullfied" by the fact that the Russian plane will be offered for sale first anyway.

Interview of Tupolev

In a separate story, the designer of the Soviet plane declined to say flatly in an interview that the Tu-144 will best the Concorde into regular service.

"A new plane must fly several million kilometers before it is ready for the passenger ramp." Andrei Tupoley told a correspondent for Prayda, the Communist party organ.

"Many phases in the testing and perfecting of the Tu-144 are already finished. Our work is going strictly according to schedule... Life shows that haste leads to nothing good. A test flight is one thing, but regular service is another.'

Russia Puts 8 Cosmos Satellites Into Earth Orbit

MOSCOW, May 9 (Reuters).— Russia yesterday announced that if had launched eight unmanned satellites into earth orbit Friday abourd a single carrier rocket.

The launching was almost an exact duplication of the first eight-satellite shot in April of 1970. The Soviet news agency Tass said the cluster of Cosmos satellites was circling earth every 115 minutes with orbits between 1,408 and 1,530 kilometers (875 and 851 miles) up at an angle of 74.5 degrees.

As in most Soviet reports on the Cosmos program, the mission was described simply as continuing space research. Devices lustalled in the satellites were working normally. The program. in its tenth year, is known to have military as well as scientific research objectives.

Experts here point out that the latest additions to Russia's earth satellites—Nos. 411 to 418 in the Cosmos program—were orbiting nearly 1,200 kilometers higher than Salyut and appeared to have no relevance to a possible rendezvous mission with the sta-

The 13th, a military officer was sentenced to ten years by court-martial Coincidentally with and following the Leningrad hijack attempt. 39 persons, most of them Jews, were arrested At Least 22 Jews

Nine Jews will be involved in the new Leningrad trial, another nine at Kishinev, and at least four at Riga, Jewish sources said. Although those arrested were rounded up in connection with the Leningrad case of June 15. Jewish sources expressed the opinion that they will not be tried for complicity in the hijacking attempt but solely for waging Zionist and anti-Soviet propaganda. Zionism has been outlawed here since the early days after the Russian revolution. Many Russian Zionist leaders were arrested in the 1920s. Others emigrated and some of them are now prominent citizens of Israel

Uranus and Noptime. Mr. Eneyev, writing in Vestnik, the principal publication of the Academy of Sciences, said that the time limitations imposed on such combined missions would be greatly reduced if missions were planned to only two of the outer planets at a time.

He said, for example, that if trajectories were planned with an assist from a Jupiter swingby, a Jupiter-Saturn flight could be effected once every 20 years Jupiter-Uranus every 14 years, and Jupiter-Neptune or Jupiter-Pluto every 12.5 years.

The Soviet scientist expressed preference for such a program even though it would require four instead of two vehicles.

Alluding apparently to Soviet investigations, he said that the floating technique, "for all its exotic aspects and difficulties of realization, is probably the most promising because it would yield far more data about the nature of the giant planets than could be obtained from fly-by trajec-

However, he qualified his remarks by saying that the problems involved in realizing this project did not make it likely in the "next few years." Mr. Eneyev's article, titled "Flights to the Giant Planets of the Solar System," appeared in

Mr. Chang had been on his way from Algiers to Shanghai when he was halted at Orly by French police who said he was drugged and being taken home forcibly.

The blue-overalled Chinese diplomats accompanying him twice tried to storm the airport police station to retrieve Mr. Chang. and three were held for a short time by police. Mr. Chang was placed in

NEW YORK May 9 (AP).-The truth behind the case of the Communist Chinese defector who sought asylum in France and then asked to go home "is worse than what had first looked like a kidnapping attempt by Peking, Newsweek said today.

The weekly newsmagazine, in its "Periscope" section, said: "French police stopped the man, who had been heavily drugged. from boarding a Shanghal-bound plane. Then, in a Paris hospital relays of Chinese-speaking French cops told him he was not wanted in France and should leave. This was done efter the Chinese told President Georges Pompidou that if the man stayed, Paris-Peking relations were dead. Mr. Pompidou believed them."

The ferryboat mining took place early this morning in Quang Tri province, about three miles northeast of Dong Ha in the country's northernmost province, when the craft struck a floating mine: So far, a government spokesman said, the bodies of 20 of the 36 victims have been found. Five other civilians were wounded in the blast, which destroyed the boat. Of the 19 "enemy-initiated actions directed against U.S. troops, five were considered by the U.S. Command to be "significant" in that they caused casualties.

In one such incident, Communist troops fired on an American helicopter flying a reconnaissance mission five miles northwest of Quang Tri City. Two of the crew-men were injured in the shooting. The helicopter incident points out the difficulty of determining which side is guilty of violating the truce. The allies have as always, hedged their truce decisrations by reserving the right to engage in "dynamic security onerations." that is, to patrol extensively by air and on foot, looking for the enemy. However, the allies consider similar patrolling and reconnaissance by the enemy to be a violation of the truce. Similarly, the South Vietnamese command accused the Comnumists of violating the truce when enemy forces, fired on a trol this morning, about 12 miles northwest of Saigon. The patrol, according to a government army spokesman, was not a violation of the truce because it was "a routine patrol which is designed to clear a serment of the road" and was not, he said, "an offensive operation." In a related development. U.S. jet fired rockets at a Communist anti-aircraft battery 24 miles inside North Vietnam yesterday evening. LONG BINE South Vietnam May 9 (NYT).—Second Lt. Rory J. Sutton of Algonec, Mich. does not look or act like an Army officer. His hair hangs too far over his eyes, he does not associate with his fellow officers, most of his friends are enlisted men, and he is an outspoken onpopent of the war.

Recently his superiors moved to "eliminate" him from the Army because of conduct not becoming an officer. His elimination would result in either an honorable discharge, or a discharge under "other than bonorable conditions," which is prej-

The procedure is an established one, but is seldom used. Lt. Sutton's predicament is unusual. It appears to be a result of his way of dealing with a problem common to all young junior officers in Vietnam today: how to come to grips with rebellious enlisted men of ages and backgrounds like his own, and get them to do menial; boring jobs in an Army most of them do not want to be in.

Israel's largest circulation newspaper, Ma'ariv, came out during the cabinet meeting with a report that the government had agreed to soften its position on reopening the Suez Canal under an interim agreement with Egypt. According to Ma'ariv, Mr. Rogers told Premier Golds Meir and her aides that President Anwar Sadat had said that Soviet troops and experts in Egypt were a hardship because they were paid by Egypt in foreign currency.

Mr. Sisco met Foreign Minister Mahmoud Risd for preliminary talks before going to the president's home. Donald C. Bergus. the chief U.S. diplomat in Cairo. and Alfred L. Atherton, deputy assistant secretary of state, also took part in the discussions. Major Demand

Mr. Sedat's major demand for implementation of the Suez Canal proposal, relterated to Mr. Rogers last Thursday, is that an Israeli pullback must be tied to a commitment for nitimate total withdrawal from the occupied Sinal Peninsula, Beyond that Mr. Sadet insists that any agreement must recognize Expotian rights to send troops to evacuated territory on the eastern share of the canal and that a reinstated cease-fire must be for a fixed period, not indefinite, as Israel, with U.S. support, has urged. Whatever expectation Egyptians had about Mr. Rogers's mission, they were based mainly on hopes that Washington was ready to apply pressure on Israel to accede to Cairo's terms. Editorials in all Cairo papers today expressed anger over as-

The marches, in which it is estimated participants will have covered about 35 million miles, were being coordinated by the UN Food and Agriculture Organization from its Rome headquarters.

The idea for the marches, in which participants are financially sponsored for each mile they cover, was originally suggested by the Italian voluntary organization "Mani Tese" (Outstretched Hands).

The money, which it is hoped may reach around $9.6 million, will be distributed through FAO and its Freedom From Hunger campaign auxiliary.

Leaders Are Sought In Trespassing Case

BROWNSVILLE, MISS., May 9 (NYT).-Warrants were issued Friday for the arrest of the paramilitary group attempting to form a black "nation" in Mississippi. The group, which calls itself the Republic of New Africa, has been trying to buy 20 acres of farm land to establish a "capital," the first step in its announced plan to take over five Southern states.

The arrest warrants and court injunction to prevent the establishment of the Republic of New Africa were obtained by P.F. Summer, the Mississippi attorney general, after Loftin Mason, a Negro farmer who owns the land, filed trespassing charges against members of the militant black group. Mr. Mason said the group agreed to buy the land for $25,000 and then failed to pay him.

He contended that members of the group tore down several no-trepassing signs and a padlocked barbed wire gate, then reentered his property Thursday night armed with guns.

Tells of Threat

Imari Obadele, president of the group, said that Mr. Mason had been threatened by white men who identified themselves as agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"They told Mason that they would burn his house, kill his cattle and poison his water if he went through with the saic to us," Mr. Obadele said.

He added that he would not submit to the jurisdiction of federal or Mississippi courts, but said that he would have his own court hearing under the laws of his organization. "We will hold a people's court for Mr. Mason," he said. "We will not go into the enemy's courts."

Thousands Join U.S. Hike

By Robert D. McFadden

NEW YORK, May 9 (NYT).-Singing, exuberant and coltish despite sore feet and aching legs. tens of thousands of young people hiked distances up to 30 miles in 125 communities across the nation yesterday to raise funds for domestic and international antipoverty programs and to focus attention on the plight of the world's poor.

Sponsored by adults and organizations who had pledged to pay sums ranging from a few cents to $10 a mile, the hikers plodded through pelting rain in the East, leaned into gusty winds in the Middle West and strolled under balmy skies in the Far

They carried litter bags and lunches, canteens and umbrellas, anti-poverty posters and cards that were stamped at checkpoints along their routes to verify the number of miles walked.

Everywhere there were dropouts, but in most cases the hikers. mostly high school and college students, completed their six-toseven-hour treks.

Walk for Development," the hikes were organized and coordinated by the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, a Washington-based organization formed ten years ago to aid the United Nations Freedom From Hunger

A foundation spokesman in the late afternoon said that more than 200,000 young people participated in the walks yesterday, which were a prelude to hundreds of similar hikes today in 160 cities across the United States and in more than 50 foreign countries.

The foundation, which has coordinated a growing number of such annual hikes since 1968, estimated that 750,000 young Americans would march today. The anticipated revenue from the hikes here and in other countries was expected to total more than $5 million for anti-poverty programs, day-care centers, nutrition programs, youth centers and a variety of self-help organizations. Of the funds collected in the United States, 42 percent was earmarked for domestic programs. 42 percent for overseas programs, and the rest for administrative and organizational expenses. there were no reports of trouble.

Black 'Nation' U.S. Unit Doubles Estimate Forbidden by Of 125,000 Heroin Addicts

By William Greider

WASHINGTON, May 9 (WP).-The National Institute of Mental that the nation has about 125,000 heroin addicts. The figure should be about doubled, the agency's director told a Senate subcommittee Friday.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D., Iowa the subcommittee chairman and the only senator who turned up for the hearing on narcotics, voiced his outrage at the slow pace of federal action and crossexamined the U.S. health officials on their budget limitations. "Gentlemen," the senator said,

"if we had an epidemic of another disease of this dimension ripping this country apart, would we declare a national emergency? Threatening every school child in America? Turning kids into thieves and prostitutes?" Dr. Vernon E. Wilson, administrator of HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration, agreed that drug addiction needs "intensive attention," but spoke of budget "trade-offs" with other pressing health problems. Sure of Emergency

His colleague. Dr. Bertram S. Brown, NIMH director, was more responsive to the senator's plea. "I would say quite clearly that if we had an infectious disease such as polio moving as fast as heroin addiction, we would indeed declare a national emergency," he

The new estimate of 250,000 heroin addicts, he explained, was doubled because new information shows the problem turning up in places where no one expected itcities in the Southeast and Midwest and affluent suburbs. The problem hasn't doubled in the last year, he said, but the known scope of it has.

The subdued national reaction, Dr. Brown speculated, "has to do with the nature of how we view this problem of heroin addiction and whether it is respectable or unrespectable. vote of the Senate.

Within the United States, the dollar crisis made remarkably little impact, even on the stock exchanges. The inflationary trends, however, which were a root cause of the dollar's troubles abroad, continued to concern the citizens at home, and this conwas particularly noticeable in the cities; the farmers complain of poor prices, rather than higher costs.

The two, of course, cannot be wholly dissevered, even among the urban and industrial population, since it is the effort to hold prices in line, to stem inflation, that is producing the greatest stress at the present time. The mixture of rising unemployment and high living costs last year reversed a ten-year trend, during which those living below the poverty level had decreased about 5 percent annually. Most of the 5 percent increase in 1970 came among the urban poor, and most of these were blacks.

The effect of this situation upon American cities is alarming. New York, which despite its heavy concentration of ghetto populations has been reasonably free from mass outbreaks of violence, saw a large area of Brownsville, in Brooklyn, terrorized with looting and arson. Regardless of special causes, this exemplifies the tinder-boxes that are being built up in many cities. Nevertheless, the special causes are worth examining because they illustrate another aspect of the American urban problem.

Ghettos, the economically and socially enforced crowding of new arrivals into districts of poor housing and inadequate services, are no novelty for America—especially for Now York, the traditional gateway.

The oldest dodge in the Pentagon's bag of tricks at budget time is the selective de-classification of scare stories about an increasing Soviet threat, while contrary evidence is minimized or kept secret. Defense

Secretary Laird's dire annual report on new Soviet missile deployments has had more form of big new holes for ICBM silos-but nevertheless it may turn out to be just as

Last year, Mr. Laird told the nation's dangerous, it had gone from zero to about weapons as part of a revolutionary new policy of "maximum information," aimed at

"reducing and hopefully eliminating over-classification" of data. But he neglected to tell the editors that not a single new start on SS-9 construction had been observed in the Soviet Union since August 1969. A nine-month "suspension" of SS-9 starts finally was admitted last summer when it could be combined with the triumphant announcement that about 20 new starts had been observed since May. The Pentagon has since acknowledged that most of this construcprogram had leveled off at about 280.

The Defense Secretary said he was releasmisleading as last year's warnings.

In the past, however, this resulted in an absolute increase in the city's population. The suburbs grew much more slowly and often were within the tax and service jurisdiction of the metropolis. Now automotive transit, private car and bus, has opened up areas that once were hard to reach by rail and, when reached, bound the inhabitants to a relatively narrow radius of socializing and shopping

The process has meant vast growth in the suburbs and an equal diminution of the cities' access to tax revenues and numerous small businesses. Even large industries and managerial offices move away from urban centers, relying upon the flexibility of access to labor (and to the city) which the automobile provides. And the cities, burdened with an increasing imbalance between those who require services and those who can pay to support them, confined by old political boundaries and old ways of thinking about revenue raising and sharing are in trouble.

It may be that cities, as their critics allege, are dying social organisms. But this can hardly be known so long as so many artificial barriers are raised against supporting city life. When Mayor Lindsay blames Gov. Rockefeller, and the governor passes on the burden to President Nixon, it is clear that a re-evaluation of the whole taxing and distributing system American cities have inherited from their simpler past is in order. No one seriously doubts America's ability to afford livable cities; few really expect to see them dissolve into a welter of slums. It is not either cash or will that is lacking: rather it is a system of putting both of those commodities to work efficiently.

It is also possible that the new silos, as

A View From the Hills

By James Reston

TIERY RUN, Va.—There is news -and not bad either-from China and the Middle East these days, but life goes on in America too. In the last 25 years, this area of the United States, from Tidewater, Md., and Virginia to the Blue Ridge, has been transformed by the movement of

will be a problem."

Even Brazil, often halled as a tion than today's government

ing, it is mainly a movement of middle-class people from the professions and businesses who have bought small holdings and fixed up abandoned farmhouses in an effort to escape from the cities and hold their families together by giving the children some feeling for the privacy and beauty of country life.

Good Results

The results of this revolt against present urban living are on the whole fairly good. There is, of course, something contrived and even false about it, for money earned elsewhere substitutes for the hard work of tearing a living from the soil, but even, the sophisticated young men' and women of today seem to like it. and when the children are very young and later when they begin to doubt even their own assumptions-but not in between the "place in the country" helps hold the family together, not much but some. It is, of course hell on the women, who have to put up with the old man's job problems all week and then gather the clan and get ready to go to the country and feed and bed them and get back exhausted, meanwhile istening to the studidities of the Vietnam war and the old generation, which, according to the young, created and even planned it all. But at least the family is together, bringing in the wood and taking out the garbage, and talking about the problems and dreams of life.

A Vacancy So maybe "the place in the country" is one answer to the modern family and national problems. Despite the population explosion-25 million more Americans every ten years, more people and more difficulties in both the cities and the suburbs-America between the teeming urban comniezes is still almost vacant. But it is not a silent wilderness. Life in the country in America today, thanks to rural electric power, national television, good roads and the garden tractor, has never been more comfortable or more in touch with the noise world—if you want to be in touch Even the services of the American countryside, to say nothing shout nersonal security and courtesy, are better here in the footbills of the Bine Ridge than in Washington or New York, and besides, it is quiet and spectacularly beautiful

So when the war in Vietnam is over, maybe it will be possible to think again about using this elemental force of privacy and in America — about planning the redistribution industry and population. The United States is not overcrowded, but taken as a whole, or in comparison with other comtries, seems almost empty, Its cities and suburbs are increasingly congested, and its ground transportation is a disgraceful tangle, but the land and the skies are still wide open, and the possibilities of the helicopter, outside the battlefield, have never even been seriously "What we need," Vice-President

The Slogans

Duval has introduced "Black is beautiful" and "Black is power" as slogans for his Social Democratic party and scoffs at a would-be Maoist who won a recent by-election, saying: "He can't go far; he's white." Extreme Hindus have organized a local branch of the Indian racist Jan Sangh.

The uneasiness of politicians on this subject is apparent everywhere Even Abraham Lincoln. the great emancipator, once said in a debate with Stepen Dougias: "I am not, nor even have been, in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races.

In South Africa the dominant Afrikaners (so taught by their own Dutch Reformed Church) mostly regard the dark descendants of Noah's son Ham as inferior hewers of wood and drawers of water, although other religious fight for full racial equality. Nevertheless, a Zulu hymn urges: "Africa, arise and . Few societies, challenged by this seek thy savior. Today our sous and daughters are slaves."

Alsop and China

Is it wise to take Joseph Alson off the Vietnam heat, where he has led glorious offensives, for many years, just at a moment When he is most needed to conclude our victorious retreat? Surely others can save Fairbank, Galbraith and McCarthy from "May 7th Schools" in the People's Republic of China, which Alson has never seen. Alsop falsely reported (May 3) that Klaus Mehnert is "the first Westerner to see May 7th School with his own eyes." We ourselves "saw with our own eyes" the realities of May 7th Schools six months before Mehnert arrived in China-and we by no means claim to be the first "Westerners" to see and write about them. However, we never saw snything which fits Alsop's irightening paraphrases of Mehnert, and we are certain that Alsop never saw it himself.

We also met many "graduates" from such schools in China who were in excellent health spirits. Practically every Chinese ambassador abroad today has been through a May 7th School or its equivalent. ROME, May 9 (UPI).—The city of the Caesars was a dirty, thirsty, smelly town today where garbage filled the streets and many tourists had to make their own beds.

For the second consecutive day 13 million Romans more than half the city's population went without water, and another two days of drought were on tap before a new aqueduct from the Peschiera River could be hooked into the city's water system.

The new supply, Romans hope, will make it unnecessary to shut off water to parts of the city during the summer as has happened for years.

A strike by garbagemen and street sweepers was due to end tomorrow—it has been continued once already—but a week's accumulation of bagged and unbagged trash dumped in the streets sent up a smell stronger than that of the easoline fumes from the traffic jams.

Whether the maid turned down the bed or the tourist did it himself depended in part on what hotel he was staying at . Many of the best known hostelries in town, including the Grand, Excelsior and Hilton, were without room service and bellboys for

Milentije Popovic, 58, Chief Of the Yugoslav Parliament

Milentije Popovic, 58, president of the Yugoslav Federal Parliament, died yesterday in a Beigrade hospital, the parliament announced today.

Yesterday morning Mr. Popovic attended a closing session of the Yugoslav Workers' Congress in Sarajevo. He returned by plane to Beigrade in the afternoon. The official amouncement gave no cause of his death, but said Mr. Popovic "died suddenly" at 10:30 p.m.

Mr. Popovic, a veteran Communist official, was elected president of parliament in 1967. He became a member of the Communist party in 1939 and joined President Tito's partisan units in 1941 fighting German occupying troops. After World War II he entered parliament. His posts in the goverment included foreign trade minister and finance minister. In 1969, Mr. Popovic became a member of the party presidium.

Tehran negotiations were Iraq.

In the negotiations completed April 2, Libya won an increase of 90 cents a barrel and increased its posted price to $3.45 a barrel. The posted price, the amount used as a base for calculating taxes and royalties, is higher than the market price. A barrel is equivalent to 42 American gallons. But when the oil companies offered it the same price, less 10 cents for the Libyan sulphur premium, Iraq balked. Saudi Arabia is also holding out to see what happens. In the meantime, Nigeria, an increasingly important source of oil for Western Europe, has settled its price claims with its principal producers, Shell and British Petroleum, for an 85cent-a-barrel increase for its lowsulphur products. The 5-cent discrepancy reflects a lesser freight advantage.

Rogers' Mission: A Gamble Worth Taking

By Terence Smith ROME (NYT).—It was, from the outset, a high-risk venture. The chances for dramatic success were remote, if not nonexistent, and the danger of a diplomatic boomerang was too obvious to be ignored. But despite the potential pitfails. Secretary of State William P. Rogers decided the gample was worth it and set out last week on a fivenation tour of the Middle East. In looking back on it from Rome, where he stopped on the way home to see Pope Paul VI.

his journey appeared neither to be the diplomatic disaster that some had feared, nor the negotiating breakthrough that many Arabs had expected as a result of the commotion generated by the first visit to the area by a U.S. Secretary of State in 13

On balance, the pluses seemed to outweigh the minuses. On the positive side, the secretary could claim the following.

• Sufficient progress in his discussions with Israel at least to sustain the negotiating momentum toward an interim agreement to re-open the Sucz Canal. The Israells said they were still opposed to any significant Egyptian military force crossing the canal. But they left open the possibility that they might be willing to consider a token Egyptian presence on the castern bank in the wake of their partial withdrawal.

Encouraged by these clarifications. Mr. Rogers announced that he was sending Joseph J. Sisco. the energetic assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs, back to Cairo for further discussions with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. The hope is that Mr. Sisco can finally begin the long-delayed negotiation of a canal agree-

 A measurably improved image for the United States in the Arab world. Mr. Rogers was received with what seemed to be genuine warmth in the four Arab capitals he visited. In Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Lebanon, the governments clearly were gratified by his decision to include them on his tour, rather than restricting himself to the power centers of Cairo and Jerusalem. In Egypt, the leaders seemed pleased by the form of his visit if not the substance of his proposais. They would have been far happier had he been able to soften the Israeli position on a re-opening of the Suez Canal in advance of his arrival, but they nonetheless applauded his visit as an indication of genuing American interest in their problems and point of riex. • Specific improvements in the bilateral relations between Cairo and Washington, After a total of nine hours of meetings, it was agreed to increase the size of the mission that the two governments maintain in each other's capitals and to reschedule the $14-million Egyptian debt to The Search for a Suez Agreement

Diplomatic maneuvering in the Middle East is focused on an Egyptian proposal to negotiate the reopening of the Suez Canal as a step toward ending the Arab-Israeli conflict. The canal has been closed since the 1967 war. To the left and right of the map below are the primary advantages of a Suez agreement to Egypt and Israel.

What Egypt Would Gain

A Suez pact would be a psychological breakthrough toward a peace settlement, permitting the Egyptian people to turn more attention to domestic problems. They are eager for economic and social development.

If achieved under Egyptian terms, the Suez plan would mean an Israeli pullback from the canal, a first step in the process of total withdrawal from Arab territory occupied since the 1967 war. The Egyptians believe the Israelis would find such a process difficult to step.

An initial Israeli pullback, as the quid pro quo for reopening the canal, could open the way for progress on other political issues.

Reopening of the waterway, though it would involve high expense initially for clearing and enlarging, would mean renewed income eventually from fees for use of the canal and thus would help the Egyptian economy.

Thousands of evacuees could return to the canal zone and begin rebuilding their war-damaged cities. The problem of jobs, housing and financial subsidies for the evacuees has been a great burden on Egyptian authorities.

What Israel Would Gain

The reopening of the canal to international shipping would serve to inhibit the Egyptians from using artillery or sending landing teams across the waterway. The situation would be more stabilized, making renewal of war less likely.

The actual functioning of a shipping channel would have the effect of separating two hostile front lines. lessening the danger of flash incidents, perhaps by accident. One of Israel's demands in any agreement has been assurance that significant Egyptian military forces would not take up positions along the eastern

Israel's agreement to enter into concrete discussions with the Egyptians, Mr. Rogers provided assurances that the United States would support Israel politically in the event of any violation of a canal agreement. Direct military assistance might also be provided, though it was agreed that this would depend on the cifcumstances. There was also discussion of the possibility of the United States supplying Israel with additional arms credits once an agreement was reached to compensate it for the increased risks of a partial pullback from the canal

In his public appearances in Israel Mr. Rogers did little to soothe Israeli sensitivity. He pointedly refused to fly over any -of the occupied Arab territories. The Israeli flag that flew, alongside the Stars and Stripes, on his official limbusine was removed before he would drive into the old Jordanian sector of Jerusalem. Almost the entire schedule arranged for him was thrown out the window. "It was almost as if he were really more interested in what the Arabs far away would think of him than the people here staring him in the face," one Israeli said.

Tone Altered

But on the non-public side, the . Rogers visit seemed to have the effect of altering the tone or the relationship between Washington and Jerusalem. One official said it was now "more businesslike" as a result of the frank and frequently argumentative exchanges between the secretary and Premier Golda Meir.

By all accounts, the initial meeting between the two leaders was a quarrelsome affair with each snapping at the positions of the other. Mr. Rogers evidently made it clear that the United States was determined to do what it could to improve its relations with the Arab states. Mrs. Meir reportedly took consistently hard positions on each of the major issues involving the withdrawal of Israeli forces. Their second session was more productive—and more harmonious. Each side gave a little, and as a result. Mr. Sisco was dispatched to Cairo to begin substantive negotiations.

But both Israeli and American officials agreed that the only change in atmosphere has been a subtle one—and that the period of greatest strain lies ahead.

In Cairo, the reaction in the wake of Mr. Rogers's visit was. on balance, favorable. While theywould not go so far as to call the talks "satisfactory." Egyptian leaders found With the United States now actively involved in the negotiating process and its big-power prestige on the line. the Egyptian leadership seems confident that the focus of any American pressure in the immediate future will be on Israel -particularly in regard to a firststage Israeli puliback and a reopening of the Suez Canal.

Soviet leaders toyed with the idea of selling out the German Communist regime in exchange for a neutralized reunited ever. That is mainly the work of Walter Ulbricht.

One might expect that such a man, who had spent 60 years in the Communist movement and, alone among today's Communist rulers, can boast of having met Lenin, would want to die in the saddle-and so he probably will. For even after relinquishing the party secretaryship Mr. Ulbricht retains his ceremonial head-of-state saddle as chairman of the State Council, and he was given a second new saddle in the form of a specially created post of party chairman. Presumably he will remain in the councils of the Polithuro as long as he breathes.

By Don Cook DARIS.—Back in 1967 the Johncon administration used to icad off the idea of a Vietnam peace conference with the reflex response. "We're not going to get mixed up in another Paumunjom"-but the Paris talks start their fourth unproductive year this week. It was a wrong premise and a misluken attitude for the Johnson administration anyway, for it was a complete misjudgment of the real victory of Panmunion. Of course it took an interminable two years and two weeks to conclude the armistice that formally ended the Korean war. But during that time the situation in South Kores was completely transformed. in Asia. The political situation was stabilized, the economy put under control and the South was given a sense of direction.

By the time the dismal history of the Vietnam war is finally written, the parallel between the Pannunion and Paris negotiations may be a great deal more clear. True, the fighting has not stopped in Victnem and the talks have been totally without results. But while the talks have gone on. South Victuam has been transformed. By the most cynical and hostile judgments, there is simply no comparison between the situation in South Vietnam today and the tottering instability and uncertainties of May, 1968. when the Paris talks opened.

Rigid Positions

Moreover, while this slow but fundamental transformation has been taking place, there has been less and less to be negotiated or decided in the Paris talks. The rigid Communist positions, adopted in the euphoria of the smell of victory when the talks opened on May 11, 1968, are repeated week after week

American negotiators have been amazed and secretly relieved at the total failure of the Communist side to pick up offers and proposals for negotiation which could have tied the United States and South Vietnam in knots and caused the most fearful policy arguments and struggles in Washington and Saigon. But because this has never been a "negotiation" in the real sense of the word this has not happened. Meanwhile, the fighting is winding down. The Americans are going home. The government of South Vietnam is going to hold national presidential elections in three months. Like it or not, it is a stable government which is collecting taxes, training an army, ping-pong players that he had controlling the towns and villages and enjoying the support of a population living in greater in 1954, and would like to visit peace and security than it has had for a decade. Poll Shows Nixon's Popularity Stabilized at Low Point

By George Gallup Director, american Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., May 9.-Public confidence in President Nixon has stabilized at its low point, which was first recorded in a survey conducted immediately following the Laotian invasion in early February.

During this 3-month period. Mr. Nixon has not been able to recoup two years of general losses in public popularity. Recent events at home and abroad, however. have not produced any further decline.

In the latest survey, conducted April 23-25—at the time of the anti-war demonstrations in Washington-50 percent of the U.S. roting-age population gave Mr. Nixon a vote of confidence for the way he was handling his job: 38 percent expressed disapproval, while 12 percent had no opinion. These findings represent virtually no change measurements.

The President's lowest level of Feb. 19-21. 51 bublic approval since taking office was 49 percent, recorded last month. His highest popularity level, 68 percent, was reached in November. 1969, just after he had announced his plan for staged withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

To obtain the results reported today, personal interviews were conducted with a total of 1,599 adults in more than 300 localities. This is the question which has been asked about the incumbent President since the Roosevelt years: Do you approve or disapprove

$400.00-A-MONTH TAX-FREE CASH WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

-Only 25¢ covers your entire family for the first month

- Pays you cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for each hospital stay... even for life, if necessary.
- Pays in addition to any other companies' coverage you have—including Medicare.
- Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital).
- Guaranteed Renewable for Life. National Home guarantees never to cancel your protection no matter how old you become or how many claims you have.

No salesman will call—No medical examination required—No age limit

ACT NOW-YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., MAY 13, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you — or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow ... next week ... next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet to-day's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? Many have learned the hard way that public and private insurance pays only 40% of the nation's total medical care bill. What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in our National Home plan that.

Pays you $400.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have $400.00 cash-coming in every month when you go to the hospital. You get your $100.00-a-month cash—tax-free—as long as you are confined in the hospital. You are covered from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to five-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

Now, this low-cost plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your introductory rate is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then, you may continue at National Home's regular low rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of the $400.00-s-month plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Use the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage or rent payments, to replace savings—or any necessary, but costly, expenses not covered by other hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed this low-cost plan that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you become or how many times you collect from us: Your policy guarantees that we can never cancel your protection for any reason whatsoever. It is Guaranteed Renewable for Life! And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family this policy (NH10-669)...

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for each accident or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $200.00-A-MONTH CASH for the first three months, when you're 65 or over. And a full $400.00-A-MONTH CASH thereafter—even for life. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $240.00-A-MONTH CASH if a covered child is hospitalized for injury or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital. And the benefits continue for as long as necessary.

PAYS $1.600.00-A-MONTH CASH when both husband and wife (under age 65) are hospitalized at the same time for accidental injury for as long as both remain in the hospital—even for life, if necessary.

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a registered nurse at home if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more.

PAYS up to $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

65 OR OVER? YOU COLLECT
IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE BENEFITS

We have designed this plan as a valuable addition to whatever is paid by Medicare—or health insurance you may have with any other companies. In fact, combined public and private insurance covers only about 57% of the total medical costs for people 65 or over. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. In addition to any benefits you may receive from Medicare, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while hospitalized thereafter . . . even for life if necessory!

Pays you $240.00-a-month cash whenever any dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, all your unmarried dependent children from age one month through 18 years are covered, too! What's more, any newborn children you have in the future are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost to you. And whenever any of your children go to the hispital, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $240.00-a-month cash, for as long as necessary. Children are covered for accidents from the first day and for sickness from the sixth day.

Pays you tax-iree cash Maternity Benefits, too.
With this plan, you can also collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for every day you are confined to the hospital for pregnancy, childbirth, or even miscarriage. You get this cash, which is yours to use as you see fit, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Of course, both parents must be enrolled in this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

Pays you $400.00-a-month cash for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Here's a wonderful "get well" benefit of this National Home plan: You collect cash benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month when your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within five days after you come home, following a stay in the hospital of five days or more for which benefits were payable. You are paid for the same number of covered days that you were in the hospital—even up to 12 full months!

Double Cash Accident Benefit.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays you an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENE-FIT. You receive not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse receives not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 in all, in each payments to you every month (when under age 65) starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000,00 cash for these accidental losses...

The accidental loss of limbs or eyesight can be tetrible. But if such loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot of the night of an eye-and $2,000.00 for loss of two limbs or the night of both eyes.

Waiver of premium benefit.

Should you—the policyowner—be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PRE-MIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, we will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

Those are the ONLY exclusional
Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or actident except conditions caused by: act of war; may mental disease or disorder, pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy ... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick hefore you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered.

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED ABOUT THIS NATIONAL HOME PLAN

L. How much will I be paid when I go to the hospital?

You will receive cash at the rate of $400.00 a month ($18.33 a day). When you're 65 or over, you collect (in addition to any Medicare behafits) $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while you remain continuously hospitalized thereafter. And you collect cash for an accident even if you're in the hospital for only one day. Coverage for illness begins the sixth day—and benefits are paid in full for as long as you're hospitalized ... even for life, if necessary.

2. Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital? You collect cash at the rate of $240.00 a month whenever any of your children (age 1 month through 18 years) go to the hospital—if Coverage for Children is added to the basic plan. Coverage for accidents begins on the first day—sickness on the sixth day. And if you have a growing family—as soon as any newborn child is one month old, he, too, is covered—automatically….. at no additional

3. When do I start to collect hospital benefits?

This new plan (NH10-669) covers you from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you brook coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

4. Will you pay me cash benefits for pregnancy?
Yes, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. You collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be annoted in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

5. Suppose I'm hospitalized for a long time and can't meet my premium payments?

If you—the policyowner—are hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are comined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. You aren't expected to pay us back, either.

6. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?

Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by; act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; confinements within a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility; and any sickness or triury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this test "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

7. What are the requirements to enroll in this National Home plan?
You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, heapital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to quality due.

you must not neve been rerused or had cancelled any nearly, pospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to qualify during this Enrollment Period—you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Enrollment Form.

By Thomas E. Mullaney NEW YORK, May 9 (NYT).-Despite a renewed wave of speculation in the West German mark and other currencies that created a new international monetary crisis last week, financial markets in this country remained remarksbly cool.

Wall Street's bullish contingent was highly impressed with the stock market's ability to withstand the normally unsettling currency developments.

The market lost ground for the week, but the decline was modest and most of it represented a continuation of the preceding week's consolidating move rather than a reflection of international monetary tensions.

It was however, a troubling period for the credit markets. The Treasury's effort to refinance $8.44 billion of maturing notes was, in the words of one veteran trader, a failure, with 30 percent of maturing debt turned in for cash. And interest rates on corporate and local government bonds climbed for the seventh consecutive week, reaching their highest levels since last November. Even without a new long-term Treasury bond in the latest government financing, bond prices declined sharply. Investors were obviously worried about such things as a large federal budget deficit, the rapid growth of the money supply, the danger of renewed inflation, a possible return to tighter money conditions later this year, and the continuation of the heavy calendar of corporate bond sales. On top of it all was worry over the implications of the international currency crisis. which caused the Fed to pump an extensive amount of credit into the money market here.

Otherwise, the week's economic news was quite mixed. The trend of consumer buying continued to run rather strong, but the latest reports on wholesale prices, the budget situation, the unemployment rate and construction spending gave little comfort to those about two-thirds of the gross national product, this has important implications for the overall performance of the economy in

A Federal Reserve Board report indicated that consumers contracted debt at an accelerated rate during March. With auto credit and personal loans leading the way, consumer credit in that month jumped by $495 million, the biggest increase in 16 months and well above the February gain of $102 million. At the same time, it was indicated that total retail sales around the country showed a gain of 4 percent to more than $7.5 billion in the final week of April, capping one of the strongest months for department and retail stores in years.

The most disappointing news of the week to the administration's economic strategists, however, were the reports that the unemployment rate inched up again for 6.1 percent and that wholesale prices, a precursor of general price trends, went up more rapidly in April than in last October. In the preceding five months, the average rise was overall wholesale price index of 1 percent last month.

The stock market closed the week generally lower with all the averages showing moderate declines. The broad-based indexes were relatively weaker than the

The dollar is the standard by which all other currencies are measured under rules of the monetary system. In intergovernmental transactions, the dollar is supposed to be convertible into gold. But there is insufficient American gold to mete it out to all the dollar holders.

The Swiss franc has gone up in value from slightly under 23 cents to slightly more than 24.5 cents. The Austrian schilling has increased from 24.75 to 26 cepts.

ward by 8.5 percent from 25 to 27,2 cents in October, 1969. None the other trading partners followed Germany at that time. The Netherlands, Belgium, Austria and Switzerland are all big importers from Germany, Therefore. German goods such as Volkswagen cars or Telefunken radios would be priced higher, adding to the inflationary pressures already caused by the surplus dollars.

surers of multinational companies. It had been attractive to hold idle funds in marks because of relatively high German interest rates, which the German authorities were using as an instrument to check inflation, and because of the possibility of revaluation upward of the mark.

Little risk was then involved since it was unlikely that the mark's value would sink below 27.2 cents Now, with the dollar parity and fixed margins of fluctuation around that parity-1 percent above and 1 percent below-temporarily removed, risk has been added to the game of mark speculation. As the mark increases in value there are, therefore, strong incentives for mark holders to take their profits and run.

One leading central banker said that because of these market forces he did not expect the value of the mark to rise in dealings. tomorrow much beyond last Friday's "free" quotation of 28 cents. It stands there at nearly 3 percent. above its parity.

He said that the mark could even start to decline in value later in the week. This would have the overall effect of draining dollars from the massive pool of reserves of the German central bank. The reserves are the highest in the world at an estimated $20 billion, less than a fifth of which is gold.

One of these was announced tonight by Bundesbank President Karl Klasen, who said that German banks would no longer pay interest on non-resident deposits.

Other measures are being worked out by the German authorities in concert with their Common Market partners. The Common Market's central bankers are preparing a package of measures that would restrict use of dollars in Europe.

It was the first change in the external value of the franc since 1936 when it was devalued 30 percent as a result of the worldwide monetary upheaval created by President Roosevelt's devaluation

The finance minister did not mention the fact that Switzerland has chosen to revalue the franc rather than follow the example of West Germany and the Netherlands, which decided today to let their equally strong currencies find their own levels.

In an earlier television appearance today, however, Cello had strongly criticized the only alternatives open to his government—a floating franc or

The decision to float the mark and the Dutch gullder confronted the central bankers here with a de facto rearrangement of the world monetary system—a system based on fixed and defended parities since the Bretton Woods Conference more than a quarter of a century ago.

The bankers themselves and officials of the International Monetary Fund have been committed to the fixed parity system as one which has encouraged the vast postwar expansion of world trade and prosperity.

However, each of the monetary crises of the last four years has brought demands for a more flexible system, incorporating such features as floating rates or gradually changing parities. The bankers have been unable to agree on any action.

The finance minister emphasiaed, however, that revaluation, which will reduce the cost of Swiss imports, would not be enough to combat domestic inflation. He said that the cabinet would submit an anti-inflation program to parliament in June that would be aimed especially at the boom in the construction industry. The Swiss consumer price index rose 5.5 percent last year and Mr. Cello warned that the combination of excess liquidity and the shortage of manpower threatened to produce further increases this

Instead, the narrow pegs of 3.63 and 3.69 to the dollar have been widened. But neither the government nor the Bundesbank would say tonight by how much they had been widened.

That language won't go down well in Europe. It is not just a question of having too many dollars to match the shrinking U.S. gold supply. U.S. financial power arouses a nationalistic backlash. TAIPEL May 9 (NYT).-Prance held on to the lead in the Bermuda Bowl world bridge championship here yesterday by beating the North America II team 15-5. However, the world champion Dallas Aces regained some of the ground they lost Friday when they lost by the maximum score, 0-20 to the French. The Aces beat Brazil by 126 international match points in 32 deals, by far the largest victory margin in the championship to date, collecting all 20 possible points and leaving their opponent with -5. In the third match, Australia scored a narrow victory over China 11-9. With four of the 15 qualifying rounds completed the standings are: France, 72 victory points; the Aces, 55; Australia, 34; China, 31: Brazil, 22; North America II

At this early stage it seems likely that the final will be between the Aces and France, with the world champions in need of their best playing form to repel the European challenge.

An innovation in this year's world championship is the provision that all three matches should play the same deals. This permits comparison of the events at six different tables.

On the deal shown in the diagram, played on the second round of the tournament, five pairs out of six reached a borderline slam in spades. The only pessimists were Gabriel Chagas and Pedro Assumptso of Brazil The bidding shown was by Norman Kay of Philadelphia sitting North, and Edgar Kaplan of New York stiting South for North America II. Kav's appressive jump-shift to three hearts, based on a strong suit and a good spade fit, propelled the partnership rapidly into a slam. West led the diamond five. Declarer won the first trick with the diamond queen and led a spade honor at the second trick which was allowed to win. At this point Kaplan decided to play East for the club king, no

THE ISRAELIS

Founders and Sons

By Amos Elon. Holt, Rinehart and Winston. 359 pg Reviewed by Alfred Friendly irony—historic irony.

It is the irony of today's moral crisis of Israel, finding guilt in legitimacy and victory, of abysmal hatred in a land of radiant dreams, of the cultivation of a mystique of redemption coupled with the mystique of violence, of founders fanatic in the hope for a Utopian society succeeded by sons who would settle for a pleasant place to live.

It is the lesser irony of the hippies of 50 years ago, dropouts of the Eastern European middleclass world who, founding Israel as radicals, became its conservative establishment, who built a 20th century setting for 19thcentury ideas and ended with "dynamic immobilism"—what the author sees as a Chekhov play by Duerrenmatt.

It is the constructive irony of idealists who "in the course of trying out their fantasy... forged reality as few men have in modern history."

It is the destructive irony of energizers of a social, political and nationalist renaissance who were blind to the fact that the Arabs entertained similar aspirations for themselves and who failed to see the parallelism: of men imbued with a historical sense of their past who could not have had a less realistic comprehension of the same historical compulsions of the Araba,

And as a consequence, Israel is left with the most terrible irony of all: "The Zionist dreamers envisaged a safe haven for persecuted Jews everywhere. But in Israel today, Jews, as Jews, live in greater danger of their lives than anywhere else in the world."

And if they are ever to escape from that irony, another one is requisite: The people "who owe their existence as a nation to their extraordinary memory of past history" must rely for their future "on the Arabs forgetting theirs."

Amos Elon, in the first flight of today's Israeli newspapermen, has written a stunning book. His is the journalist's gift of organization and lucid presentation linked to a brilliant historian's insight, powerful in imaginative demonstration and illuminated by traditional "Jewish" sensitivity. It is based on a simply prodigious plkiiography.

Ekon has given us, in fact, two books: The first section, about the "founders," is essentially the story of the first three "aliyas," the "up-goings" or immigrations from 1882 to 1924, their roots in the shtetis of Eastern Europe, the political philosophy of Central Europe and the abortive revolutionary attempts in Russia by Johnny Briggs and Danny Walton in the sixth. Tatum yielded the other run when Bill Voss homered in the ninth.

Twins 9, Senators 2 Tony Oliva clubbed his ninth home run and also hit three singles and drove in four runs as Minnesota dumped Washington, 9-2. Oliva's four hits jumped his league-leading average to .395. The Twins got 17 hits. 16 of them singles. Harmon Killebrew --just back from an attack of the flu—Tim Holt and Leo Cardenas each got three hits.

Yanks 2. White Sox 1 Thurman Munson drilled a leadoff triple in the 11th inning and scored on Bobby Murcer's one-out single, giving the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Angels 5, Indians 2 Roger Repoz smacked his secand homer of the season and Syd O'Brien drove in two runs with a triple in a four-run sixth inning that gave California a 5-2 victory over Cleveland. It was the Indians' fourth straight defeat.

Tigers 2, Royals 1 Norm Cash hit two straight home runs and Fred Scherman bailed out Joe Coleman to give Detroit a 2-1 victory over Kansas

Braves 5. Giants 2 In the National League, a tworun pinch-hit homer by Clete Boyer and a three-run drive by Hank Aaron were the big blows of a five-run eighth inning that carried Atlanta to a 5-2 victory over San Francisco. A walk to Marty Perez leading

Senators Trade Epstein, Knowles For A's Mincher

BLOOMINGTON, Minn, May 9 (AP).—The Washington Senators traded a relief pitcher. Darold Knowles and a first beseman. Mike Enstein, to the Oakland Athletics for three players, including first baseman Don Mincher Friday night.

The trade was announced here after the Senators defeated Minnesota 6-5, in a game saved by Knowles.

The Senators' owner. Bob Short, made the announcement, saying that the trade was completed only after the same with the Twins. In addition to Mincher the Senators received a catcher. Frank Fernandez; a left-handed pitcher, Paul Lindblad, and an undisclosed amount of cash. "It's a great opportunity for Mike and Darold to play on a winning team." said the Washington manager, Ted Williams, "Mike is going home to his family and his wife's family. Epstein, who has a .247 batting average this year, has been the subject of trade reports for two or three years. He ha: struck out 31 times in 85 times at bat this

Women's Lib: Was It Really Eve's Fault?

By Edward B. Fiske NEW YORK (NYT).-Theologians may do a lot of talking about the next world, but over the centuries their discipline has been strongly influenced by what happens in this one. Kings in the Middle Ages justified their authority by religious sanctions. Max Weber and other sociologists found a causal connection between the Calvinist ethic of frugality and the rise of capitalism. Some historians have even asserted that the imperative in Genesis to assert "dominion" over the natural world has helped cause the current environmental crisis. Now Christian theology's ties to sociology and economics are under attack from a new quarter - the women's liberation movement. In recent months. a small number of women theologians has begun to argue that Christianity, with its concept of God the Father, has helped create and perpetuate

"The church has served to legitimize a patriarchal culture." Dr. Mary Daly, a theologian at Jesuit-run Boston College, said recently. "It's time to rework the basic myths and symbols of theology in light of the new awareness of how women have been exploited."

The feminist attack on Christtian orthodoxy focuses on three

The Masculine Godhead: Genesis save that God created man in His own image and as "male and female." Nevertheless, God has usually been portrayed as a man, referred to with masculine pronouns and thought of as possessing masculine qualities like sternness. Christians furthered the process by asserting that God became human in the person of a male.

Ethical Hypocrisy: According to the feminist theologians, Christian leaders developed an ethic based on passive virtues like humility and obedience, but then used them as a means of subduing the other sex. "While exhorting others, chiefly women,

GREAT ERITAIN

As this sign at a recent conference of Roman Catholic bishops in Detroit indicates, the Christian church is under attack from a new quarter-women's lib.

to practice Christian virtues they have themselves pursued power, creativity and self-fulfillment on levels far removed from obedience, self-abnegation or, for that matter, chastity." wrote Barbara Sykes in a recent issue of The Episcopal New Yorker, the diocesan newspaper. Religious Symbols: Feminists maintain that the fundamental symbols of Christianity are permeated with male chauvinism. For instance, the story of Adam and Eve blames women for the presence of sin in the world. Catholics complain that the figure of Mary has been idealized into a "sexless" projection of male vanities and that the usual picture of her kneeling before her Son is an affront to the role God intended for

.There are still probably only a few dozen woman theologians and graduate students in theology in the United States, but they have already begun the task of demasculinizing their discipline. The obvious starting point has been to introduce female qualities to the concept of God in the manner that Christian Scientists have done for decades with their belief in a "Father-Mother God."

In a recent article in America magazine Esther Woo, s doctoral student at Fordham University, speculated on the possibility of feminizing the Godhead—including the essential nature of the male Jesus and creating a new Trinity of Mother, Daughter and Holy Spirit.

Pregnant, With World At a recent Episcopaliansponsored conference here, Penelope Chen, a British graduate student, took a similar approach. "How much better to conceive of God the creator as pregnant with the world, giving birth to it and nourishing it. rather than as the divine watchmaker who never has to intervene in the machinery," she Female theologians are consciously seeking to play down the masculinity of Jesus and emphasize his universal qualities. "It's not the maleness of Christ that was important: Itwas his humanity," said Dr. Elizabeth Farians, whose PhD is from Notre Dame.

In accordance with this wom en theologians generally back the current trend toward thinking of Holy Communion primarily as a communal meal, rather than as a re-enactment of the sacrifice of Christ for the sins of mankind. The latter interpretation, they charge, gives too much symbolic significance to a male figure.

Although women's-lib theology is still in the early stage of development, it has already begun to draw some fire from male scholars. James Hitchcock, a specialist in Reformation history at St. Louis University, has charged that, like black theology, it is essentially an attempt to "redefine theological terms and categories to serve political ends."
